

Bidev (2500m) – Pskon (2590m)

Distance: 12km

Ascent: 960m

Descent: 870m

Trail: moderate – clear trail

Accommodation

Pskon

12 Homestay Lower Garmin, language Tajik, some Russian. It's a small d-tour staying here.

16 Homestay Pskon, language Tajik

The route on the map shows the trail on the right bank that continues after the homestay. But it is possible to backtrack your steps to the dirt track and follow this. The routes come together further upstream and the latter option is easier hiking. After the impressive gorge the road ends and at the mill you cross the bridge across the Yagnob River. If you decide to head to Pskon you cross the tributary Tagobikul after a couple of hundred metres. If you want to go for a little d-tour up to Lower Garmin, take the wide track on the true left of the Tagobikul and cross further upstream. Pskon is 3km on a wide track. It moves away slightly from the Yagnob River and is beautifully situated on a higher spot with fabulous views. The homestay is nice and sleeps about 10 people max.